Resolution 278 (1964)[1]

Situation in Spain

Parliamentary Assembly

1. The Assembly,

2. Considering that on 25th April 1961 the Motion for a Resolution on the situation in Spain presented by Mr. Kirk and others was referred to the Political Committee for a report and to the Committee on Non-Represented Nations for an opinion ;

3. Considering that this Motion requested that European public opinion should be fully informed on current events in Spain through the medium of the Consultative Assembly ;

4. Considering that this result has been partially obtained, to the extent that it possible, notably through the publication by several organisations of reports on specific aspects of the situation in Spain and also through discussion in the Assembly on 15th, 16th and 17th May 1962 of Spain's application for association with the European Economic Community which led to the adoption of Recommendation 314 ;

5. Considering that the opinion of the Committee on Non-Represented Nations was transmitted to the Political Committee on 16th November 1961 ;

6. Having taken note of the report of the Political Committee and of the reasons advanced in support of its position (Doc. 1692),

7. Decides that no further action should be taken on the Motion for a Resolution tabled by Mr. Kirk and others (Doc. 1226) for the time being, and instructs the Political Committee to follow closely all new developments that might arise in the situation in Spain.

1. Assembly debate on 16th and 17th January 1964 (23rd and 24th Sittings of the 15th Session), 23rd April 1964 (5th Sitting) and 11th June 1964 (8th Sitting) (see Docs. 1692Docs. 1692, report of the Political Committee, and Doc. 1717, revised draft Resolution presented by the Political Committee). Text adopted by the Assembly on 3rd November 1964 (9th Sitting).
