

Resolution 334 (1967)<sup>1</sup>

European economic problems

Parliamentary Assembly

The Assembly,

1. Conscious that the achievement of economic unity in Europe is likely to become more and not less difficult with the passage of time;
2. Welcoming the initiative of the British Government and the support of it by other EFTA Governments in seeking to obtain a situation in which negotiations for the enlargement of the European Economic Community could be brought to a successful and rapid conclusion,
3. Calls on all those concerned to use their best endeavour to ensure that the consultations can be brought to a successful conclusion without avoidable delay.

---

1. Assembly Debate on 25th January 1967 (21st Sitting) (see Doc. 2174, report of the Economic Committee). Text adopted by the Assembly on 25th January 1967 (21st Sitting).

