CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE

Doc. 118
28 August 1950

Support of the United Nations in their resistance to aggression in Korea or wherever else it may arise

Communication

This Assembly of free peoples,

Pledging its support of the United Nations in their resistance to aggression in Korea or wherever else it may arise;

Repudiating any attempts to achieve international settlements by appeasement of aggressors;

And resolute in the determination of its members to undertake whatever burdens may be necessary for their individual and collective defence ;

Affirms the profound desire of its Members :

To live in peace with each other and with their neighbours;

To promote by every means in their power the peaceful settlement of outstanding differences between the nations;

To support the United Nations in seeking to establish the complete independence of the Korean peoples;

And to persevere in their striving to create conditions for a secure, a peaceful and a prosperous life for all.
