09 July 2013

Obligatory deconstruction of “gender stereotypes” and violation of parents’ rights

Reply to Written question: Written question No. 638 (Doc. 13222)
Committee of Ministers

1. In the context of its consideration of the question raised by the Honourable Parliamentarian, the Committee of Ministers took note of the information provided by the French delegation that the draft bill which Mr Volontè refers to was currently under discussion in Parliament and that it contained no reference to a new teaching about “gender theory”.
2. Furthermore, the French delegation recalled that in France teaching and education are provided in accordance with the principles of the European Convention on Human Rights and the various relevant international treaties signed by France and are provided jointly with the family.
3. In light of these indications, the Committee of Ministers does not consider it appropriate to reaffirm the points mentioned by the Honourable Parliamentarian or to take any action.
