Legal challenges arising from the hybrid war

Motion for a resolution

tabled by Mr Volodymyr ARIEV and other members of the Assembly

This motion has not been discussed in the Assembly and commits only those who have signed it

Hybrid war is often referred to in the context of the ongoing war in Ukraine and the activities of the so-called Islamic State.

This war poses a new type of threat based on a combination of military and non-military means such as cyber-attacks, mass disinformation campaign via social media, disruption of communication and many others.

The widespread use of new tactics raises concerns about the adequacy of the existing legislative tools.

The Parliamentary Assembly should identify legal gaps and subsequently develop appropriate standards which would enable defensive measures to be undertaken in the absence of a direct armed attack by another State. Such measures would also create safeguards against the selective application of international law.
