Upholding the rights to protest: defending the Budapest Pride march

Written declaration No. 807

This written declaration does not reflect the position of the Assembly; only of those members that have signed it. It will not be considered further by the Assembly.

We, the undersigned, declare the following:

The ban on Budapest Pride march represents a serious violation of the freedoms of assembly and expression. This decision is part of a broader and growing trend of State-sponsored discrimination against the LGBTI+ community in Hungary and undermines fundamental democratic values.

In recent years, Hungarian authorities have increasingly restricted LGBTI+ rights, enacting laws that limit freedom of expression, suppress gender identity, and stigmatise the community. The ban on Budapest Pride march is a continuation of this concerning pattern of human rights violations.

Freedom of assembly is a fundamental right enshrined in international and European human rights law. The European Court of Human Rights has consistently affirmed that States have a positive obligation to ensure public security while safeguarding the right to peaceful protest. The ban under the pretext of concerns about public order, is unjustified and sets a dangerous precedent for further restrictions on civic freedoms.

We call upon the Hungarian authorities to:

- reverse the decision to ban Budapest Pride march and ensure that it can take place without obstruction;
- guarantee the safety and rights of LGBTI+ individuals and their allies during public demonstrations;
- uphold Hungary's commitments to fundamental freedoms, as a member State of the Council of Europe.
