COUNCIL OF EUROPE
CONSEIL DE L'EUROPE

Resolution 399 (1969)[1]

Situation in Czechoslovakia and its repercussions within Eastern Europe

Parliamentary Assembly

1. The Assembly,

2. Reiterates its condemnation of the occupation of Czechoslovakia, as already expressed in Resolution 376 (1968) ;

3. Notes that the military intervention against the Czechoslovak people is contrary to the principle of the independence of nations and has disturbed the process of détente in Europe ;

4. Expresses its hope that the firm reaction of the Czechoslovak people will in the future reduce the inclination of states to commit actions contrary to the principle of the right of self-determination of peoples ;

5. Wishes the Czechoslovak people full success in their continued struggle for greater freedom which is the pre-condition for the European states to contribute to the presently interrupted process towards détente.

1. Assembly debate on 28 January 1969 (22nd Sitting) (see Doc. 2492, report of the Committee on European Non-Member Countries). Text adopted by the Assembly on 28 January 1969 (22nd Sitting).
